

SCOPE OF WORK

The environmental initiatives undertaken by Bangladesh demonstrates the commendable efforts made to deal with priority environmental problems related to the physical environment. However, specific environmental health concerns have lagged behind, although these are now being recognized as national priority problems. Therefore, it is expected that health concerns and health goals will be introduced into the national environmental and development planning process, as much as possible and wherever pertinent. This will be achieved by integrating critical health - and - environment considerations into such other development sectors as housing and urban development, industry, energy, transport and agriculture. BHEAP is expected to identify the areas of concern and pertinent issues, determine the causes and define possible solutions.

The priority actions identified in BHEAP is to be elaborated and implemented by the proposed lead agency. The implementation and coordination mechanism has been discussed later in this report.
